DETAILED ACTION

Status

1. This is in response to Applicant's amendment filed 03/17/06 and the BPAI decision on 01/19/06. Claims 1-2, 4-9, 11-14, and 16-17 were reversed and claims 3, 10 and 15 affirmed.

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-2, 4-9, 11-14, 16-17 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-2, 4-9, 11-14, 16-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hiatt ("Hiatt"; Patent No. 6,477,152).

Consider claim 1. Hiatt teaches the apparatus and method for data communications for a mobile platform (figures 3-5, 7, detailed descriptions, abstract), comprising a very low range (column 9 lines 28-31, "infrared signals") broadcast receiver located on the mobile platform (figure 5, element 506), and a computer network (figure 5, router 308, LAN 304 and user interface 302) including at least one terminal on the mobile platform (columns 4-5, specifically lines 22-31 of column 5), the terminal providing Internet access through the direct broadcast receiver (column 1 lines 40-57, column 2 lines 59-67).

Art Unit: 2618

However, Hiatt does not explicitly disclose that the received signals are transmitted from within a very short range.

However, it would have been obvious that the teachings of Hiatt would have suggested to an artisan that the in-airport ground-based transmitter, transmits, inter alia, over a very low range less than a few meters). Since the ground-based system is intended for use with aircraft operating within the airport area, and that an artisan would have considered it obvious to operate the ground-based airport LAN with aircraft near or at a gate of the airport, communicating, using cellular or infrared communications, etc., with the aircraft receiver 106, via interface 506, over distances as short as less than a few meters. That is, from the disclosure of a ground-based system operating within 1000 feet of the airport, would flow from the disclosure that it would have been obvious to operate the system of Hiatt from 1000 feet down to zero feet or within a few meters. As the disclosure of Hiatt would have suggested to an artisan a range that overlaps the range of the claim, according to In re Malasari, 499 F.2d 1297, 1302, 182 USPQ 549, (CCPA 1974), an overlapping range is at least Prima facie obvious.

Regarding claim 8, this claim includes all the limitations of claim 1 and further specifies "a distance of less than a few meters the direct broadcast receiver being limited to receiving signals transmitted from within a very short range". Claim 8 is similarly rejected with the reasons set forth above.

Regarding claims 2 and 9. Hiatt discloses that the Internet access is interactive access for providing commands (column 3 lines 4-15).

Regarding claims 4 and 11, Hiatt further discloses that the mobile platform is a boat (column 2, specifically lines 55-58).

Regarding claims 5 and 12, Hiatt further discloses that the mobile platform is an automobile (column 2, specifically lines 55-58).

Regarding claims 6 and 13. Hiatt further discloses that the mobile platform is a train (column 2, specifically lines 55-58).

Regarding claims 7 and 14, Hiatt further discloses that the mobile platform is an aircraft (column 2, specifically lines 55-58, figures 3-5).

Regarding claims 16-17, Hiatt further discloses that the commands are forwarded to an Internet service provider and the Internet service provider responds to the commands via the direct broadcast receiver (column 1 lines 40-58).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 3, 10 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hiett ("Hiett"; Patent No. 6,477,152) in view of LaRocca et al. ("Larocca "; Patent No. 6,314,572).

Regarding claims 3 and 10. Hiett discloses the invention including the internet connection via a satellite transmission (figures 3-5) but does not explicitly disclose that the communication system includes a back channel transmitter. In an analogous art, Larocca teaches a method and apparatus for providing subscription on demand services for an interactive information distribution system. LaRocca further discloses that the communication system includes a back channel transmitter (figure 2, block 208, column 6 line 57 to column 7 line 65).

Since the system of Hiett is about an onboard entertainment system with user interactive control; and since LaRocca is also deals with an interactive information distribution system, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made to use, within the interactive onboard entertainment system of Hiett, the back channel transmitter, as taught by LaRocca in order for a user to interactively send control command(s) to the system to obtain the desired information such as which program (channel) to watch.

Regarding claim 15, since the system of Hiett is about an onboard entertainment system with user interactive control using the internet connection from the mobile platform to a terrestrial receiver (figures 3-5 of Hiett); and since LaRocca also deals with an interactive information distribution system including and the back channel transmitter

(figure 2 of LaRocca) for the interactive commands. It would have been obvious to use the interactive system of Hiett to send commands to the internet via the terrestrial receiver utilizing the interactive system with back channel transmitter of LaRocca.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 18-28 are allowed following the remarks presented by Applicant filed 12/19/03 (paper number 7) pages 9-12.
